BREED THEATER.

Feature.

A thrilling and interesting picture that figures as the feature at the Breed theater for the first part of this week is entitled the Treachery of the Pequots This film story is very complete, and the cunning of the Pequots is well represented in the opening scenes, where the Indian, feigning illness, is brought into the Puritan cabin, and when once inside he overpowers the family and unbolts the door, allowing his scheming tribe to enter. Most of the family is killed, but the son and daughter escape and fice to the river for safety and board a schooner lying there. The Pequots pursue and also board the boat, where a terrific battle takes place, in which the Indians are defeated by the sailors, and the surviving son and daughter are saved.

Mes Lillian Shuwny sings two very accessful illustrated songs which are nititled Dreamy Eyes, and Where Do Ye Go, From Here? These are espetally tuneful and catchy songs, wining for the singer hearty encores.

He was an old resident of the town, having died on April 26, 1861, at the age of 70 years. The picture is in a large oval wood frame. Relatives of Judge Fish pre-sented it to the office, and it will soon be hung in a prominent place there Inquest in Doherty Case.

Inquest in Doherty Case.

Sunday morning Dr. Stanton held in inquest at the Doherty house. It was attended by Deputy Sheriff W. H. Casey, Dr. C. Grant Savage, Dr. M. H. Scanlon, Joseph T. Murphy, and Asst. Prosecuting Attorney William A. Wilcox. He gave Undertaker Murphy charge of the body. Edward Doherty was formerly employed by the Atwood Machine company of Stonington, and was 26 years old. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus here, and a young man of steady habits. He had a touch of grip and purchased in a local drug store a bottle of whiskey and died Saturday after taking some from the bottle. He had been married only since last September. A delegation of Nina council, No. 42, will attend his funeral Tuesday morning.

Dr. Stanton, the examiner, stated he would take no action until he heard from State Chemist Smith of New Haven.

Torturing, Disfiguring Humors Speedily Yield to Cuticura.

The suffering which Cuticura Soep and Cuticura Ointment have alleviated among skin-tortured, disfigured infants and children, and the comfort they have afforded wornout and worried parents, have led to their adoption in countless homes as a priceless treatment for the skin and blood. Infantile and birth humors, milk crust, scalled head, eczema, rashes, and every form of itching, scaly, pimply skin and scalp humors with loss of hair, of infancy and callahood, are speedily, permanently, and economically cured, in the majority of cases, when all other remedies suitable for children fail. Cuticura Remedies are guaranteed absolutely pure and throughout the world.

FOETRY.

Beneath his eyes a fringe of lace Upon her bosom strangely stire. For she had seen herself in his. And knew he saw himself in hers

Yet in that glance she found her place
Was by his side—her all in all—
As clearly as Belshazzar saw
The hand that wrote upon the wall.

To call interpreters to him. And soft as mother's earliest word
Unto her babe a moment old,
His kiss, with Midas touch, at last
Came down and turned her life to gold.

-Norman Gale, "A Country Muse."

I WOULD NOT FORGET.

When, in what other life,
Where, in what old, spent star.
Systems ago, dead vasitudes afar,
Were we two bird and bough, or man
and wife?
Or wave and spar?
Or I the beating sea and you the bar
On which it breaks? I know not, I!
But this, O, this, my very dear, I know:
Your voice awakes old schoes in my heart;
And things I say to you now are said
once more; And sweet, when we two part, I feel I have seen you falter and linger

So hesitate, and turn and cling—yet go, as once in some immemorable before. Once on some fortunate yet thrice-blasted shore.

Was it for good?
Of those poor eyes are wet!
And yet, O, yet.
Now that we know, I would not, if I could forget.
